LOCAL NEWS.

If you see it in the Townsman, it's news to be relied upon; if it is news and so, you'll see it in the Townsman.

Dr. McFarlane of Jacksonville, Ill., is a visitor in town.

A Nerve and Brain Food: Ayer's Hygienic Coffee. Grocers sell it.

Next Tuesday evening will be "Visitors' Night" at the Grange and an enjoyable time is anticipated.

Thomas Linn, a Crut on the U.S. Training Ship, Enterprise, is at his home here on a furlough.

J. E. Sears has something to say in his advertisement this week, which will be of interest to many shoe buyers.

The last chance for registration before the coming election are next Monday and Saturday. See that your name is on the list.

R. Hodge, the Park Street baker, is to have a new store erected, back of his shop and Richardson & Pitman will do the job.

The Primary Teachers Union will meet at the Lawrence St. Church to-morrow afternoon at three o'clock. The luncheon for Oct. 20 & 27 will be given.

In the cricket averages last week the batting record of L. Saunders should have been 5.11 instead of 4.00 and that of A. Saunders 20 in place of 19.30.

The Engine Company celebrated the arrival of the new hose wagon with a jolly time and steamed down last Friday evening. Visiting Firemen from Lawrence and North Andover were present.

Mrs. James E. Johnston is to repeat her address given at Fall River recently, before the Primary Sunday School Institute at Berkeley Temple, Nov. 4. The subject is "Some Other Helpful Things for the Primary Department."

The A. O. U. W. lodge of Andover, Lawrence, Methuen, Haverhill and Lowell are talking of a public meeting, to be held in City Hall, Lawrence, and to be addressed by Supreme Foreman J. G. Tate of Nebraska.

The hard driving rain of last Saturday and Sunday made some trouble for the Electric Light Company and badly washed many roads. A good many private individuals also suffered from flooded cellars. It is said by older hands to have been the severest rain-storm for 25 years.

A representative of the United Order of Pilgrim Fathers has been in town to see about forming a colony in Andover and it is expected that it will be done on or about Nov. 15, according to the advertisement elsewhere. This order, which combines insurance with fraternity is confined to the New England States and is having a very successful existence.

Elijah Henry Roper of Andover Theological Seminary has been called to become the pastor of the East Walpole Congregational Church for one year, the Church and the Church Aid Society, an organization representative of the congregation, uniting in the call. Mr. Roper has been asked to begin his labors Sunday, Oct. 20. It is probable that he will accept the call.

The occasion of the official visitation of District Deputy Charles H. Littlefield and suite to St. Matthews Lodge of Masons on Monday evening, was one of much pleasure. Visitors were present from Lawrence, Methuen and both Andover lodges, making in all over one hundred, who witnessed a very creditable exemplification of the work of the second degree. Refreshments were served at the close of the ceremony.

Dr. Bowker will give his illustrated lecture on "Japan" at St. John's Church, Bradford Street, Lawrence, on Wednesday evening, Oct. 20. Japan, which for centuries was kept secluded from the rest of the world, has within fifty years been brought from her retirement by American enterprise, while her present conflict with China shows her possessed of the bravery usually attributed to civilized nations alone. The surprising progress and changes which have occurred in Japan will be fully dwelt upon in this lecture, as Dr. Bowker has spent much time in that country and treats his subject in the happiest manner.

Walter N. Kingman, the well known Haverhill piano teacher and soloist, and Harry H. Crane, Haverhill's talented violin teacher and soloist will give a recital in Andover Wednesday evening, Oct. 20, which all lovers of music should attend. See announcement in next week's Townsman. Mr. Kingman, being a native of Andover, is not unknown to us as he has been teaching here for some time, in addition to his Haverhill teaching. Mr. Crane comes recommended by the famous master of the violin, Prof. Hermann H. Hartmann of the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, with whom he has been studying for years. See card in another column.

In today's issue begins the first of the series of articles on Historical Andover. The Faneuil & Salt Co. of Lawrence announce in their advertisement a special sale for to-morrow.

The King's Daughters are reported to have cleared over $200 by their entertainment last Friday night.

Richardson and Pitman are to build George T. Abbot's new cottage on Elm Street.

New concrete crossings have been laid from Valpey's market to Musgrove Building and from Campion's corner across Essex Street.

Lawrence papers say that Alex. H. Rogers, son of Barnett Rogers, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for councilman in Ward five.

A talk with the public on overcoats is what W. E. Gile & Co. have to say to-day and every reader will find it of interest to read their announcement in this issue.

The headquarters of "Millers' Reform Boots and Shoes" as advertised in "The Village School Souvenir" is No. 8 Beacon Street, Boston, instead of 81 as printed.

A sufficient number of applications has not yet been received to warrant an evening school. Will any persons desiring to attend please give their names with list of studies to Rev. Fr. Field or Rev. F. A. Wilson before Thursday, Oct. 24.

The children's dancing class of Miss McLaughlin and Miss Susie Meldrum opened to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in Musgrove Hall. An advanced class will be formed next Monday evening at 8 and at the same place and those desirous of attending are invited to be present.

J. H. Gordon, of Abbot Village, who is captain of the Merrimack Cricket Club, Lawrence, was presented with a bat as the first prize for the best batting average, which was 18.7. The presentation was made at a banquet of the Club last Saturday night. His best scores for the season were 55 not out against New York and 15 not out against East Boston.

The Andover Daughters of the American Revolution have received an invitation to be the guests of the North Bridge Chapter at Salem Oct. 19. They will be received at 10 A. M. at the Essex Institute and at 12 the party will go by electric to Jeniper Point, where they will be entertained with luncheon by Miss Hunt, at the home of her sister Mrs. A. C. Goodell, Jr.

One of the most popular articles ever introduced in town by local merchants is the Andover Souvenir Crockery, which for the last few years Smith & Manning have disposed of in large quantities. With the well known local views, on the different pretty shaped dishes, they have been in big demand. As will be seen by their advertisement to-day, a fourth importation has been received, with four new views, which make in all eight different local scenes. The new views, all very natural, are the Memorial Hall Library, and the South, Free and Christ churches combined, Main street looking up from Locke and a full view of the Abbot Academy buildings. Messrs. Smith & Manning would invite all to view the goods.

Foot-Ball.

Technology had no trouble in defeating the Phillips team 14 to 0 last Saturday. The hard rain made the ground and ball slippery and gave a decided advantage to the Boston heavyweights, who pushed Andover's light rushers around the field much easier than they would have done on a good day. Phillips also had two substitutes back of the line, which spoiled her usually good interference. Individually the men played a hard and plucky game, but lack of team work was very noticeable. With her best team and a good day, Andover would have given Tech. a very close battle. Tech's team had been greatly strengthened since playing Exeter, when neither side scored.

To-morrow afternoon B. A. A. plays here. They have a very heavy team and some fine material and a victory for Andover can hardly be hoped for.

Boston University is on the schedule for next Wednesday afternoon.

It was a disappointment to a large number not to see the game with St. Marks on Wednesday. St. Marks cancelled it on account of injuries to his players.

Election Officers.

The Selectmen met this week and appointed the following election officers:

PRESIDENT.
Warden, Barnett Rogers; deputy warden, Geo. A. Higgins; clerk, John J. Sweeney; deputy clerk, Edward E. Treacy; inspectors, Louis A. Dane, William P. Regan; deputy inspectors, Barn L. Abbot, Frank H. Jenkins.

PRESIDENT.
Warden, Howell T. Wilson; deputy warden, Frank Parkhurst; clerk, Charles W. Thwin; deputy clerk, Richard J. Sherry; inspectors, Daniel H. Poon, O. P. Caffrey; deputy inspectors, Joseph Hinchcliffe, Carl Hoffman.

New Voters Registered.

The following new voters have been added to the voting lists by the Board of Registrars.

Oct. 11, at the Town House, William C. Danne, Mrs. Josephine F. Baldwin, Clara J. Baldwin, Mrs. C. W. Clark, Mrs. Mary Jane Howell, Mrs. Emeline J. Lincoln, Emma J. Lincoln, Florence A. Parker.

At Ballardvale, Oct. 14, Walter F. Lawrence, Chester E. Matthews.

At the Town House, Oct. 16, Geo. L. Averill, Frederick W. Klein, J. A. McCall, William L. Watts.

Home Missionary Field day.

The past Sunday's services in the Congregational Churches of the town will be devoted largely to the cause of Home Missions. In the morning the various preachers will be, at the South Church, Rev. Joshua Colt, secretary of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society; at the West Church, President Simons of Fargo College, North Dakota, described by a newspaper writer who saw him at the late Cong'l National Council as "a trifle grained by exposure to blizzards, but master of an expansive smile and of an undying courage;" at the Free Church, "the only" Mr. Paddock; at the Chapel, Rev. H. D. Ward who is less known hereabouts than Mr. Paddock because he is the Western, not the Eastern, Field Secretary of the national society; and at the church in Ballardvale Messrs. Truett and Harb of the Seminary.

There can be no doubt of a large congregation in the evening union meeting at the South Church, where a stereoscopic exhibition of the society will be given, with running comments by Mr. Paddock and Mr. Colt. A collection for the society will be taken.

I. O. G. T. Red Spring Lodge.

On Tuesday evening last in connection with the above Lodge of Good Templars a box party was held which was a very successful affair. A large number of people were present. Songs were rendered by J. Callum, who sang his noted song "The Trilby Craze," and J. Sykes, the comedian in a very creditable manner. A piano solo by Miss Pittard, a young girl who shows much promise of becoming a fine player, was given in a clever manner; also a recitation by Martin McKenzie and a dialogue by Brother Myers and Sister Hayward were given. The committee are to be congratulated in their efforts they have shown in carrying out its party to a successful issue. All members are earnestly requested to attend the next meeting, on Tuesday as special business will be brought forward.

Notice.

The Electric Light Company requests its customers to see that all lights are turned off Sunday afternoon between 2 and 3 o'clock, for the purpose of making tests.

No. 1

The Old Boundaries.

The Chaldean visited, curious deep and unstinted, both for this world and the next, upon the wretch who removed the ancient landmarks. If the accounts of the "preambulating" of our forefathers in laying out the bounds of the town and estates within its borders do not suggest a possibility of profane thoughts on the part of those who contended for long years their claims, at any rate, into the class of impressions relating to the old landmarks must be put the feelings with which the modern student of ancestral homesteads tries to decipher these, dog-eared of the ancient scribe. "Woodman spare that tree," was checked upon oaks of all colors, walnuts and pines innumerable.

There is a plot in a work of fiction whose climax hangs upon the rolling from its place of an immense boulder, thereby transferring a valuable section of a farm to the rival of a neighbor. Here in Andover the "gutter" near a flat rock was a common sight, as we live on the immovable scraped rocks of the earth's backbone. A meadow with a dam attached is a great help, and a spring of water the right of way to be left open forever for all men and cattle fixes many disputed points. And, by the way, that is how we happen to own the Red Spring. When the Lawrence man came with his bottles, an aged lady recalled the lawyer's tale of the deed reserving the water for the use of the Andover public and the matter was looked up and found to be so. But how have I wrestled for a year over one farm which included fifteen acres on the high way leading from Benjamin Holt's to John Fiske's, with a quarter acre on which was a shop across the road. I followed it into the mortgage stage and this unlucky bit of land disappeared entirely. Then I read the Holt Register through and back to Ben. John Fiske proved to be an adopted child of another Holt. Finally a marriage record in the Abbot Book gave the clue to his place and I laid out my road at last. Then I took all the estates on the road which used to lay there and can yet be traced in the neighborhood and I got the missing link in the little quarter acre with its shop which is still remembered. The original fifteen acres had dwindled to two with a modern house upon them. Half of Scotland District holds the rest of them. The turnpike came along and spoiled my road which next runs from the highway between Isaac Chandler's and Ebenezer Jones over to "Joe Parsons." A twin oak is the only mark mentioned besides fence corners. If "O. C." of the American, who so coolly calls for a map of the early homesteads of Andover, wants a map of Scotland District between 1760 and 1860 I might be able to give it. The year's work was a liberal and scientific training in law terms, the ways of transferring property to dodge debtors and how to find things down to Salem Court house and in the Registrar's office in Lawrence. I find the best way to get at ancient holdings is to guess at the pieces and work them back to a unit. Such shrieks of laughter came from merry youths in the deed's office at Salem over this work, but my heart was too full for utterance over the enigmas and I slammed those old tomes down with such vim that one steady nerved man had to migrate to a distant corner. I simply lost my temper with the landmarks. What a pity they could not have taken a stone with a copper bolt in it, like that in the triangle on Holt's Hill and measured from something more definite than a corner of Bradstreet's house or a twin oak.

The Indians who did not cut down trees must have had some way of measuring land and maybe our early men took their fables. But, however it was measured at the trading, that was a goodly heritage we bought from the foolish red man. North of us, just across the Merrimack or Monomack (Sergeon) was Puntucket or Haverhill settled in 1640 by those who talked of coming here. Haverhill included Methuen till 1725 also Merrimack and a bit of Amesbury, perhaps more, old Boscawen on our northwest corner with the Indian Village of Wamsit (Lowell) situated between Blamhard's Pond (Haggetta) and the Pawtucket Rapids. Eastward was old Newbury, including West Newbury and the Port, beginning 10 years before 1633.

How zealous ministers were to lead a people to form new places for the sake of bread and butter. All these and many less successful plants were engendered by New England clergymen who did not find theology and physics to pay and so took to farming in addition. Their towns and communities must also be provided for, like Queen Victoria's. Then they gained as much attention and respect as royalty among the yeomen of the congregation. Cattle feeding was very strange it seems to me. But they made first rate leaders for new enterprises and they did encourage the failing hearts to make a strong stand in the difficulties of beginning "on the ground." Rowley village (Boxford) in 1702 with its Yorkshire men and Rogers to the front started just a year before Haverhill in 1630. At our southwest corner old Saugus of 1630 (Lynn) sent up Lynn end village (Lynn Field) and Lynn Village became the Readings, in 1644 our nearest neighbor on the south. In 1629 Salem's first church, the first completely equipped Protestant church in North America was formed and Salem Village (Danvers) sat down on the hill top to watch for Andover steeples. Greedy old Charlestown in 1629 began to covet these meadows and with its daughter Woburn kept us in a broil with its boundary short comings. For its sins it became reduced in 1857 (about the time we split in halves) to only 620 acres, 60 of which were covered by a States Prison and Navy yard and now poor old "Pigtown" is only Charlestown District, while Ochockewick stock is just "booming." Then at the South-west lay Newtown, blessed and rich already in 1630, covering old Cambridge, the Port and the fine holding of Billerica including Tewksbury, all given to keep the grasping Cambridge emigrants from fleeing in a body to Connecticut, that early Oklahoma.

All these, our good neighbors, have stood with us shoulder to shoulder in war and politics. We got our Davis and Ayers grandmothers from Haverhill; the Noyes, Emery, Merrill, Morse and Moody girls came over from Newbury; the Crosby, French, Marshall, and Hunt blood came across from Billerica and the Eatons, Temples, Swains and Haywards of Reading all helped in building up the new settlement with sturdy nerve and pluck. The Reading dames came of good fighting stock, while Salem sent the culture. New Meadows (Topsfield) with its corner all ready in 1630, just a little behind us, just meeting us where Boxford and Salem Village ran up, gave up a bit to help later on and we had the quiet little corporation of Middleton with an Andover boy for its first minister set down between Aalebe's and Will's Hill for our first child in 1728. After Middleton we did not lose a scrap of territory till 1845 (200 years old), when Lawrence was born and a little later, we split just about in half. I have studied my little contour map till the conviction has come that we got the best side of Andover hills. The witch who will soon bid Foster, Ballard's and Haggett's Pond to the Center's heart and it looks as if we might be one in interest for another hundred years to come. We cannot get back our gentians, our polygals, our cardinals along the brook. Mrs. Eastman has put corn tassels and scarecrows where Paul Abbott (in the third from old George) had his dam and corn mill. We have still a few trees, found nowhere else in Massachusetts and may be that grand growth on Francis Johnson's land at Carmel, and the West Ridge held by the Smiths may stay with us a few years longer to show what once covered our bare hills.

Government Road Work.
Colonel Albert A. Pope, who has done such grand work for the national goodroads cause, writes:
"It would be a good thing if the Government would extend the good-road work in the Department of Agriculture and build the great national highways. Then, if the states would follow the example of New Jersey and Massachusetts and build State roads, leaving to towns and cities the streets, we would, in the course of time, develop a system of highways not excelled by any in the world. It has got to come. Horses have seen their best days. Electricity and bicycles have partially done away with their use, and before this century expires practical motor carriages will be in use. Then the demand will be for still better roads and good roads in all directions, and the poor old horse will be relegated to the country, where he belongs."

Indigestion

Tortured me; I was run down, had no appetite and could not sleep. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken a fourth of a bottle I was very much better. I also used Hood's Pills and found them splendid, very mild, yet effective. Since using two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills occasionally. I eat and sleep well and can work with ease."

WHY IS IT?

Some find work where some find rest,
And so the weary world goes on.
I sometimes wonder which is best,
The minor peace when life is long.

Some eyes close when some cry awake,
And so the dreary night hours go.
Some hearts beat where some hearts break,
I often wonder why "tis so."

Some will fight where some will fight;
Some love the heat and some the cold.
I often wonder who are right,
The ones who strive at some who yield.

Some hands fold where other hands are lifted bravely to the strife,
And so through ages and through lands
Some live the life of a transient life,
Some live the life of a true life.

Some find rest where some find rest,
Some find rest where some find rest;
Some find rest where some find rest,
Some find rest where some find rest.

Shall Women Vote?

One of the questions that voters will have to pass upon at the next election will require a "Yes" or "No" on the following, "Is it expedient that municipal suffrage be granted to women?" So well does the declaration of the Massachusetts Man Suffrage Association agree with our ideas on this question, we submit the following extract of that document with our heartiest endorsement. In urging the claims of their association, they say:

"Our cities and towns are great business corporations, and in the administration of their affairs should be conducted as such.

Believing that the evils at present incident to their administration would be vastly increased by the addition to the suffrage of a class of voters exceeding in numbers the present voting population, and necessarily inexperienced as a class, because of their duties and inclinations, in the affairs of business, we have formed a non-partisan association for the purpose of bringing home to the male voters of the Commonwealth the importance of the question and the advisability of voting 'No' upon it."

The solution of the municipal government problem is a very difficult one, but along with many others, we do not believe it is found in the women voting. The trouble in getting an expression on the question among the women themselves, will be that only a small part of the women will care enough about it to register and vote. Those who do register may be pretty generally relied upon to vote for the question, but the indifferent and not voting may be just as generally relied upon to be opposed to it, if they could only be induced to express their preference.

Editorial Cinders.

The fifth annual dinner of the Republican Club promises to be the same big affair as usual, with a great gathering and good speeches. It comes next Wednesday evening at Music Hall.

The building of the splendid piece of road in Frye Village promises to be an eye opener to our citizens in the matter of educating them to see what a properly built road is. Andover is apparently just on the verge of a new era in road building and we look to the next half dozen years for a greater improvement than we have ever yet seen in a decade. A road roller and a liberal appropriation should be the start off for next year.

The communication from Mr. Ripley, the graduate treasurer for Phillips Athletics, should be carefully noted by all of our business men. How liberal the business men of Andover feel toward the athletic interests of the students is well shown in their recent almost universal generous response for their tennis courts, but in return they have reason to expect honest and business like dealings on the part of the students themselves. Treasurer Ripley is earnest to do his part, and the dealers may help him and themselves by a hearty cooperation.

James H. Derbyshire's Democratic opponent for Senator in this district will be Thomas A. Brooks of Lawrence who was nominated Wednesday. Andover had three out of four delegates present. W. P. Regan was on the committee on credentials and one of the tellers.

MID AUTUMN LEAVES.

Brides and Grooms of an October Week in Andover.

Last Wednesday, the sixteenth of October, seemed to be a favored day for weddings everywhere, and several of interest to Andover people took place at that time.

FOSTER-SWETT.

Frances Homer Foster of Central Street joined the matrimonial ranks on Wednesday evening, being united in marriage to Miss Mary Jackson Swett, daughter of the Jackson B. Swett of Haverhill. The ceremony was performed at the Swett residence in that city by Rev. W. W. Everett, assisted by Rev. Frederick D. Greene of this town.

The house was brilliantly decorated with autumn foliage, plants and other floral ornaments. Kneeling upon a satin pillow, beneath a suspended arch of smilax entwined with asparagus and ferns and banked by tropical plants, the couple plighted their troth.

The bride's brother, Philip C. Swett, and his daughter, Miss Fannie Whittier Swett, as maid of honor, were the parties attending the couple, the bride being given away by her brother. The ushers were Messrs. Frank T. Carleton of this town, William Swift of Boston, Charles S. Benson of New York and Harry J. Davis.

After the ceremony there was a reception in which the couple were assisted in receiving by their mothers, Mrs. Mary B. Swett and Mrs. A. M. Foster.

The bride was attired in a handsome gown of white satin, trimmed with lace and chiffon, and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. After the wedding tour, Mr. and Mrs. Foster will reside on Central Street.

GREENWOOD-STOTT.

The home of A. Sewall Stott on Union Street, Frye Village, was the scene of a quiet home wedding Wednesday evening, when his eldest daughter, Marion L., became the wife of Joseph N. Greenwood, son of James Greenwood, the well-known Lawrence furniture dealer.

A prettily decorated house lent added charm to the occasion. The marriage service was of the Episcopal form and was performed at 7 o'clock by Rev. F. A. Wilson of the Free Church. There were no attendants. The bride was attired in a gown of white lawn with lace and chiffon trimmings. Only the families of the contracting parties were present. After the ceremony a wedding lunch was served and later Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood left for their new home at 90 Farham Street, South Lawrence, the Frye Village neighbors giving them a good send off.

They were the recipients of a handsome array of wedding gifts and the best wishes of their many friends.

CHURCHILL-STOTT.

A pleasant and pretty wedding occurred also on Wednesday evening at the home of James Scott on Mineral Street, Abbott Village, when Miss Margaret W. Scott and Mr. George A. Christie of the Andover Press Printery were united in marriage. The parlor presented a charming scene with its handsome decorations and beautiful bower of autumn foliage, ferns and golden rod, under which the Episcopal service was performed by Rev. F. A. Wilson.

Miss Mary Scott attended the bride while Mr. George Lindsay performed a like duty for the groom. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. James Scott. Only relatives and very intimate friends were present, Lowell, London and Andover being represented in the gathering.

The bride wore a pretty dress of white lawn and carried a bunch of white roses.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Christie received the hearty congratulations of those present, in which their many other friends in town will enter. A wedding repast was served, after which the happy couple were taken to the home of D. S. Lindsay, Summer Street, where they will reside until the house which is being built for Mr. Christie is completed.

The wedding gifts made a very large and handsome display.

DAMON-IVES.

The marriage of William C. Damon assistant Supt. of Marland Mills and Miss Effie Ives daughter of Mr. James T. Ives of Philadelphia. It occurred at the residence of the bride's parents Philadelphia, Thursday evening Oct. 17. Mr. Damon has been a resident of Andover only a short time, but has made many friends who will extend to him and his wife heartiest congratulations and good wishes. They will reside on High Street the Barnett residence.

Andover's Literary Activity.

In the literary activity of Andover the present season may be noted, "A Critical and Exegetical Commentary on Judges" by Prof. Geo. Moore of the Theological Seminary, and "Studies in Theological Definition" by Rev. Frederic Palmer, which have already appeared; also in press and soon to appear, a New Geometry by Geo. D. Pettie of Phillips Academy, an annotated German Play edited by Miss Schieffelder of Abbot Academy, and Selections from Carlyle edited by Henry W. Boynton, of Phillips Academy.

THE "DEESTRICK SKULE."

A Great Audience at Last Friday Night's Examination.

A very large audience gathered in the Town Hall last Friday evening to witness the examination of "The Village School," given under the auspices of the local circle of Kings' Daughters, and conducted by Miss Helen Brigham of Boston.

The personators were: Mrs. Downs, Miss Susan Jackson, Miss Park, Mrs. Gardner, Miss McCurdy, Miss Shanon, Miss Alice Abbott, Miss Lucia Merrill, Miss Erving, Miss Meldrum, Miss Mabel Carter, Miss Lizzie Church, Prof. Moore, Dr. Richards, Dr. Gilbert, Dr. Hulme, N. J. Bartlett, F. O. Baldwin, T. F. Pratt, Perley F. Gilbert, Charles Shearer, Maynard Clemens, Joseph Blunt, Calvin Playdon.

The school names were as follows: Little girls in Tyers—Tabitha Scroggins, Jennie Whittle, Melitable Merryweather, Martha Meddlesome, Mary Ann Hicky, Sarah Jane Hicky, twins, Hepzibah Brown, Jerusha Bangs, Lucinda Miller, Hannah Bangs, Huckleberry Jones, Pardon Potter.

Little Boys in Browns—Ebereser Peppercorn, Bartholomew Seth Jones, Jedediah Short Boy, Bill Babbitt, Julius Snivelpot, Elisha Moses Fish, Jim Digward, Shooky Plight, Samuel Chose, Lemuel Hawkins, George Washington Jones.

The school committee were: Parson Hayseed, Lady Thistle, and Squire Doolittle, represented by N. J. Bartlett, Mrs. Downs and Prof. Moore.

The program of the examination was as follows:

RECESSION.	"O Come, Come Away."
READING CLASS.	Reading Class.
DECLARATION.	Arithmetic Class.
COMPOSITION.	Tabitha Scroggins.
DECLARATION.	Primer Class.
COMPOSITION.	Huckleberry Jones.
RECESSION.	by a "Fem. Sem."
RECESSION.	Speaking by Primer Class.
RECESSION.	"Old Oaken Bucket."
COMPOSITION.	Geography Class.
RECESSION.	Ebereser Peppercorn.
DECLARATION.	Pardon Potter, Bartholomew Jones.
DECLARATION.	Elisha Moses Fish.
COMPOSITION.	Spelling Class.
RECESSION.	Julian Snivelpot.
RECESSION.	"Scotland's Burning."
RECESSION.	Class Poem.

The parts of the above program that pleased the audience best seemed to be, Dr. Gilbert's spelling, Mr. Baldwin's arithmetic, and the very excellent class work in the geography lesson, and in giving the course of the Shawahen River. Mr. Pratt and Miss Merrill recited the dust of "Billy Boy" very pleasingly, and several local jokes were good hits.

At the conclusion of the program, Parson Hayseed and Squire Doolittle came in for the customary commendations of the marks, and Lady Thistle, Mrs. Downs, spoke in a more serious vein, as follows:

"Gentlemen of the Committee, Madam, the teacher, pupils, parents and friends of the school in the Centre District of the South Parish of Andover, Massachusetts:

Whenever and wherever school examinations have occurred it has been the custom to depute one member of the committee to express the sentiments of the others at the close of the exercises. It has likewise, so far as my experience goes, been the custom for that member to praise the attainments of the pupils, commend the methods of the teacher and extol the liberality of the Committee in providing such heretofore unprecedented opportunities for the acquisition of knowledge. And, however Pickwickian, may have been the well-turned phrases of other Committees, the remarkable proficiency we have witnessed this evening, prevents any suspicion of our absolute sincerity. It is as the judges say at the prize speaking, almost impossible to particularize into commendation the youth and immaturity of the primer class, do they not merit a word of notice?

But joking and pleasantry apart, are there not many points in the representation just closed, recalling not only the fun and jollity of the old time district school, but its deeper and more endearing influences?

Behold the good-natured castigation, bearded the intentionally exaggerated crudities; have we not all seen what those who remember the rude, singed school house on the top of the wind-swept hill, never failed to find on the rough benches of its bare and ugly school-room? For in that school-room the rich and poor, the wise and foolish, the learned and unlearned, clasped hands in a more absolute equality than has ever been imagined by poet or philosopher.

In that school room they remember how speedily the Squire's son, if the Squire's son was a dunce, went to the foot, and the boy from the poor-house took his place at the head.

In that school room they saw the bound girl carry off the honors from the parson's daughter when the parson's daughter was lazy and a flirt.

To be sure, the ground covered was narrow, the teaching poor, and as Daniel Webster said, 'A boy never seemed to get beyond fractions,' but he did manage to learn what many boys of to-day seem never to have any idea of, that there is a difference between principal and interest, and that there is a distinction in personal pronouns.

The district school is a thing of the past, but it is the thing in the past that made the republic possible.

So, what thanks to those whose thought and effort made this representation possible,—to those whose able personations carried out the thought, to enthusiastic teacher and clever pupils, and to all this great audience, we tender our hearty thanks, assuring them that the blessing of the poor and lonely, the sick and the miserable, will be their reward for this night's work and this night's play.

Ladies and gentlemen, school is dismissed."

It is understood that almost $300 will be netted to the work of the Kings' Daughters.

The sixth district republican councillor convention at Lowell Wednesday nominated Hon. John M. Harlow of Woburn by acclamation.

RELIEF CORPS FAIR.

Good Attendance and Generous Contributions to Howard Andover Ladies.

The Wm. F. Bartlett Women's Relief Corps made a good start towards the soldiers' monument by the fair held in the Town Hall Tuesday and Wednesday. While the proceeds might have been larger, still the result was very satisfactory and the fair may be rightly termed a success and a credit to those who worked hard to bring it about.

On the left side of the hall was a bountiful laden harvest table in charge of Mrs. Gledhill, Mrs. F. M. Smith and Mrs. Morse, a table of useless articles in care of Mrs. Bean, Mrs. Carruth and Mrs. Richardson and the table of confectionery dispensed by Miss Esther Smith, Mrs. E. K. Jenkins, Mrs. Milo H. Gould and Mrs. R. M. Findley.

On the other side were apron and fancy goods tables over which Mrs. Davis, Mrs. A. McTernan and Mrs. D. S. Lindsay presided, also a Christmas tree from which presents were sent by Misses Laura Chandler and Bertha Higgins, and the supper corner, where ladies carefully prepared food, which was served by young men. There were also a grab bag, guess contests, and other attractions, including a Punch and Judy show.

Tuesday night for several reasons there was not a very large attendance. The entertainment consisted of a doll drill by fifteen little girls, and a parson drill by thirteen little larger girls. Both were conducted by Miss Frances Mel-drum, with Miss Cox as pianist. Both were finely done and very much pleased the audience.

Wednesday night there was a grand turnout and business was decidedly brisk. Post 90 G. A. R. came in a body escorted by the Sons of Veterans. The Andover Band Orchestra rendered selections, Prof. Le Roy of Boston gave a performance of sleight of hand, which was unusually good, and after Geo. S. Cole had auctioned off unsold articles, there was dancing.

Supt. of Streets Lovejoy is in a pair of shoes given by B. Brown for the person guessing the number of kernels on an ear of corn. There were 384, which was his guess. There were 1770 beans in the three bottles and H. Allison Morse guessed 1776 and got a caudor. The weight of the pumpkin was 35 pounds, and John Hovey guessed it exactly. A comforter, made by the venerable Mrs. Eben Jenkins, went to Miss Lizzie Mears of Ballardsville, the lucky number being 9. E. L. Kimball guessed within 3 minutes of the time a watch, which had been wound up, would stop and received a lamp.

Rev. I. L. Langstroth.

The daily papers record the death of Rev. Lorenzo L. Langstroth, who will be remembered by old citizens as the pastor of the South church for nearly three years, 1893-95, between the pastors of Dr. Badger and Dr. Taylor. After his health had compelled him to cease from preaching, he officiated as principal of Abbot Academy for one year, his death leaving Miss McKee, we believe, the only survivor of the ex-principals of the Academy. Mr. Langstroth was afterwards pastor at Greenfield in this state and principal of young ladies' schools there and in Philadelphia, but has resided for many years without charge in Ohio. He was well known as an enthusiastic student of the habits and culture of the honey bee, having published a book upon the subject and invented an improved bee-hive. He fell dead while in the pulpit at Dayton, Ohio, on Sunday Oct. 6. He was nearly eighty-five years old. His sister, Margaretta E. Langstroth, who may be remembered by some as a pupil of Abbot at the time of his residence here, married Hon. Almon Brainard of Greenfield and died several years ago.

Enrollment of 448 Students at Phillips.

The preliminary catalogue at Phillips Academy appeared this week, showing a total enrollment of 448 students.

The classes are divided up as follows: Classical department, Seniors 112, Middle 62, Junior Middle 64, Juniors 39; scientific department, Seniors 44, Middle 73, Junior Middle 44, Juniors 10; total 448. Massachusetts leads in point of representation with 134 students, New York is second with 72, Connecticut third with 33, and Illinois fourth with 26. The other states and countries are represented as follows: Pennsylvania 21, New Hampshire 21, Ohio 14, New Jersey 14, Maine 13, Michigan 11, Wisconsin 11, Iowa 6, Missouri 7, Rhode Island 5, Minnesota 5, California 4, Colorado 4, Kentucky 4, Maryland 4, Montana 4, Virginia 4, Indiana 3, Nebraska 3, Alabama 2, District of Columbia 2, Florida 2, Idaho 2, Texas 2, Vermont 2, Nova Scotia 2, Arkansas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Tennessee, South Carolina, Washington, West Virginia, Asia Minor, England, Hawaii Islands, Japan, New Brunswick, one each. The list of professors and teachers numbers twenty.

The republican county convention was held in Lynn Wednesday. Alden P. White was nominated for District Attorney, receiving 105 out of 273 votes cast. John M. Danforth of Lynn was re-nominated for County Commissioner. Everything went on smoothly until the nomination for re-nominate Sheriff Johnson by acclamation was voted down and a ballot taken. 260 votes were cast, of which Johnson received 155 and Fred G. Preston, who is supposed to be the A. P. A. candidate, 101.

Woman's Suffrage.

Townsmen:
Please through your paper inform the men of Andover who do not wish the vote (they are the majority) what they must do to prevent the burden being laid upon them. Must they have their names registered, when, and where? Men and where must they record their vote? We do not consider the question woman's suffrage a question of right, but it will not tend to purify politics in Andover by those who are striving for it, but seem to be willing to use any means to accomplish their end.

The cause for the above communication is the great stir among a number of Massachusetts citizens to have the right of suffrage extended to women as well as men. At the last session of the State Legislature it was voted that all persons qualified to vote for school committees, the next state election, should have an opportunity to express their opinion in favor or to the following question, Is it expedient that municipal suffrage be extended to women?

Now in answer to our correspondent's question, we would say that the best way to prevent the burden being laid upon them is to turn out to the polls, vote No, and thus express their approval of the act.

At in order to do this, and here is the answer to the second question, women must register the same as men at the regular times and places, which are as follows: At the Town Hall, Oct. 21, from 9 to 9:30 P.M., and Oct. 29, from 12 M. to 3 P.M., and at Ballardvale Oct. 21, from 7:30 to 9:30 P.M. They must record their votes at the Town House on election day, which is Nov. 5 this year. Ed.]

Announcement to Andover Merchants.

Editor of the Townsman.
I beg the favor of your columns an announcement on behalf of the Andover Academy Athletic Association has been agreed by the managers of several departments that they will furnish written orders for all goods which to be charged and not paid for in advance at the time of delivery. The merchants of Andover are requested to note this fact and to deliver no goods except on the receipt of such order; and to forward the order, with a bill of the goods, to the graduate treasurer at once. They will co-operate with the managers in this way, I am confident that some of the bills of past years will be avoided.

Yours truly,
A. L. RIPLEY, Grad. Treas.

FIVE VILLAGE.

James Gordon has moved with his family to Lowell.

Mrs. Alice Bell is now rapidly recovering from her severe attack of poisoning.

Lewis Pierce from New Hampshire has taken a tenement in the other part of the town, occupied by William Barrett on North Hill Street.

Messrs. Curran & Joyce are making many improvements about the Dove house. They are now grading up and moving the lawn fronting on Main Street, and they have also acquired possession of the Millett land, which will be fixed up.

CELLULOIDE
COLLARS AND CUFFS that are water proof. Never wilt and not effected by moisture. Clean, neat and durable. When soiled simply wipe off with wet cloth. The genuine are marked with a linen collar or cuff on both sides with "celluloid" and as they are the only waterproof goods made with such an interlining, it follows that they are the only collars and cuffs that will stand the wear and give satisfaction. Every piece is stamped as follows:

If anything else is offered you it is an imitation. Refuse any but the genuine, and if your dealer does not have what you want send direct to us, enclosing amount and stating size and whether a stand-up or turned-down collar is wanted. Collars 25c. each. Cuffs 50c. pair.

OVER MOUNTAINS.

My heart went roaming and flying
Where her one treasure was.
The day was luridly dying.
A low wind sighed, "Alas!"

There was no bird at all
Out of his nest so warm.
Over the mountain wall
My heart went into the storm.

And when the night was mirk,
And on the shrieking sea
The wind was doing its work
My heart came back to me.

Tapped at my window pane,
Out of the storm and din,
Out of the night and rain,
I rose and let her in.

"O heart, like a frightened bird,
Heart, like a small gray dove,
Say, had thou seen or heard
Anything of our love?"

But never a word she said,
Her eye was laden and dim,
Her breast had a stain of red,
She spoke no word of him.

And whether she saw him not
Over the mountains gray,
Or whether he had forgot,
I know not to this day.

—Katherine Tynan Hinkson in Good Words.

BALDNESS NO OBJECTION.

How the Enterprising Photographer Overcomes the Fear of Hairless Sitings.

An agent soliciting trade for a Broadway photographer recently called at the Park Avenue home of one of New York's best known physicians and tried to convince the doctor that he should have his picture taken. He was selling a photograph coupons. The physician has a terribly bald head. Nothing but a frothy fringe remains on an erstwhile luxuriant head of hair. On that account he had long ago given up having photographs of himself made, so he replied:

"No; thank you. I want none of your coupons. I have broken myself of the photograph habit. My head is too bald for the business."

But the agent was persistent, and finally the physician said: "I will make you a fair proposition. I will take a double dose of your coupons if you will promise to fix my pictures so the bald spot will not show."

"All right," said the agent after a moment's reflection. "Mr. — can arrange that. Such things are done every day in our business. Here are your coupons. Come to the gallery for your sitting next Saturday."

When he went to the photographer's studio the following Saturday, the doctor was met at the door by a lad who, when the customer removed his silk hat, said:

"Oh, this is Dr. —, is it? Pass right along this way." Curious to know why this lad had been forewarned of his visit, the physician passed in and was finally met by a young lady, who glanced at his head and said:

"Oh, Dr. —, I believe—the man who wishes to have photographs which will indicate that he has a full growth of hair on his head?"

"I'm the man," perplexedly replied the physician as he went on out into the operating room.

"Ah," said the man in charge of the camera, "this is Dr. —, is it not the man for whom we are to make photographs which will not show the baldness of his head, as our agent promised. Just kindly step over to the other end of the room. No; do not lay your coat and hat down. Keep the overcoat on your arm and kindly place your hat on your head. That's right. Now look pleasant, please. There, your picture's taken!"

"Well, I hope I can get home without being taken in by a gang of bunco steers," said the physician, after he realized that he had been made the victim of a clever trick. —New York World.

Manual Training.

An old friend of Dr. Holmes says: About 30 years ago, being in Boston one day, I called upon him and was ushered into his library unannounced. As the door opened I heard a singular scraping sound, and the doctor rose to meet me with a slightly embarrassed air.

When the servant was gone, I said, "I am afraid I disturbed you."

He laughed. "Yes, you did, but I was at work on neither a poem nor a lecture."

He touched a spring, and out from under the library table rolled a little bench fitted out with a turning lathe and tools.

"This is the way I rest myself," he said. "But there are people in the world who would think that if a physician made 'jimmicks' he must be mad. So when I think any such fools are coming I touch this button, and away goes my workbench, and I am discovered in character, bending over my books."

Dr. Holmes was one of the first of our physicians to see and point out the danger in the prolonged nervous strain to which brain workers in this country too often subject themselves. He insisted upon the value of a hobby, some mental occupation differing from the ordinary business or profession, on which the brain could at once work and rest. —Housekeeper.

A Newspaper For the Blind.

There is but one newspaper in the world that is published in the interest of blind people, The Weekly Summary of London. It was started in the spring of 1892 and now claims subscribers in every quarter of the globe. It is printed in "raised," or Braille letters, and is considered a literary curiosity. That it will succeed may be judged from the fact that it has been twice enlarged since the fall of 1893. —St. Louis Republic.

Effective.

Artist—I painted this picture, sir, to keep the wolf from the door.

Dealer (after inspecting it)—Well, hang it on the knob where the wolf can see it.—Pick Me Up.

Nail biting, according to a French doctor, is hereditary. Almost one-third of the French school children bite their nails, and the girls are worse than the boys.

Virtue is a rich stone, best plain set. —Bacon.

THE NEW CHILD.

It Is a Dreadful Little Animal, Fast and Precocious.

"A is not an article," remarked a child the other day to her mother, who was helping her with her school lesson. "Fancy your not knowing that it's a distinguishing adjective!" We asked a small schoolgirl the other day if she learned astronomy. "Astronomy! Of course not! That's an infant's subject," she answered, with great contempt. "Have you read Pope's 'Essay on Man'?" We inquired lately of a girl of 12. "Pope! Why, nobody thinks anything of him nowadays," she replied. "Do you know Milton's 'Paradise Lost'?" "Oh, we got beyond that long ago."

The worst of a childish dictum of this sort is that you feel yourself so absolutely quenched. There is no getting any further in the argument, for no pigheadedness equals the pigheadedness of the very young person—in fact, of the new child. And then he—or she—is never amused with the simple games that used to delight us. Modern children are willing to play if only to please their elders, but they are mildly and politely bored. They are bored with most things. They have 30 picture books where we had one—none of your garish, crude illustrations, but æsthetic designs, and yet they don't seem to care about them.

There is a good story of how an old gentleman with much toil and trouble manufactured a large kite for his small grandson. He and another old friend, with the boy, went out to fly the kite. The two old men were deeply engrossed, but the grandson got so bored that he quietly absented himself, and after some time the two old fogies found to their disgust that they had been larking about all alone with a kite, much to the amusement of the passerby. And another story—of a little girl of 8 who said to her mother (an authoress), "Oh, mamma, why not call your new book 'The Rod of Love'?"—does not ring quite pleasantly. Ah, there is something terribly unchildish about the "new child!" —New York Times.

THE EGG DANCE.

A Beautiful Past That Is Performed by Hindoo Juggling Girls.

One of the most wonderful of the many feats performed by Hindoo jugglers is the egg dance. Usually it is executed by a girl, fantastically dressed. She makes use of the willow wheel, around which at equal distances are threads, and at the end of each thread there is a noose, held open by a bead.

This wheel the girl places on her head, while she carries a basket of eggs on her arm. When the music strikes up, she begins to dance, and the wheel begins to spin around. She then takes an egg from the basket, places it in one of the thread nooses and throws it from her wrist sufficient force to draw the knot tight. The spinning of the wheel keeps the thread stretched, with the egg at the end of it.

She then takes another egg from the basket, places it in another noose and repeats this until there is an egg in every noose. Her fantastic costume, her perfect motion and all the eggs swinging on the stretched threads at once present a very pretty sight indeed. It requires much art to execute the dance, for at one false step the eggs would be dashed together, the dance spoiled and the dancer thereby disgraced.

After dancing for a time with all the eggs swinging around her head she takes them out of the noose one by one, all the time keeping the wheel balanced and in motion, and again places them in the basket on her arm.

When the dance is finished, the spectators are allowed to examine the eggs to see that they are real. —Philadelphia Times.

A White Squall.

"A white squall—did I ever see one? I should say I had," said an old sailor in the large office. "We were between here and the West Indies, and it was as fair a day as you ever put eyes on. I was at the wheel, and we were howling along under a pretty sailing breeze. There wasn't a cloud to be seen, unless a little white vapor far off could be called a cloud. All of a sudden the captain came up out of his cabin."

"Get all the light sails off her as quick as you can," he shouted to the mate. "Clew up the royals and to gaff-lant sails and bear a hand lively, boys."

"What's the matter with the old man now?" said the sailors as they looked around the horizon and saw nothing but sunshine and the clear sky.

"Nevertheless all hands turned to getting in the light sails. The captain took the wheel and sent me to assist. Of course we all thought it was a piece of foolishness, but we worked with a will because the captain told us to."

"Well, we had no sooner got those sails in than it struck. Right out of the clear sky came an awful gale. It tore our great mainsail and other sails to ribbons quicker than a flash. It came 'butt end to,' as the sailors say."

"How did the captain know it was coming? Why, he was in his cabin and happened to see his glass go down suddenly. That meant something, and he hustled on deck. A good captain watches his barometer as a cat watches a mouse." —Portland Press.

The Fight Which Is to Come.

The fate of the civilized world had always hung upon the strength of the Aryan nations to repel the attempts of Asiatics to force their way into Europe and to flood the western world with oriental ideas and habits, modes of government and forms of religion. The struggles of Greece with Persia and of Rome with Carthage, the struggles of Greeks, Romans and Teutons with the Saracens; the conflicts, extending to our own times, with the Turks, were but so many acts in one long drama, of which the earliest scenes are to be found in the pages of Herodotus, and the latest might be studied in the telegrams of the daily newspaper. —Life of Froese, Dean of Westminster.

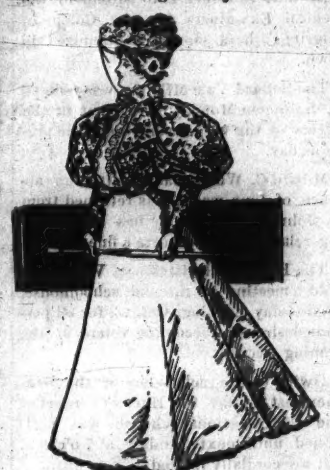

TAILOR MADE GOWNS

THEY ARE MORE THAN HOLDING THEIR OWN WITH OTHER FANCIES.

Description of Model Costumes—Popularity of Postilion Backs and Strap Seams. Leading Winter Silks—The Stock Collar. New Shoe Styles.

[Special Correspondence.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—In spite of the fanciful Louis XVI rage the tailor gown is more than holding its own. Some of the neatest and most tasteful costumes of this season are tailor made, and for them there is a revival of two old details. One is the strap seams and the other the cunning little postilion back. The tailor suits are made alike of smooth and rough faced goods. The smooth materials generally used comprise chevrot, tweed, kersey, covert suitings, serge, cravanette and fine broadcloth. The smooth ones only have the lapped strap seams. The woolly goods are made with smooth pressed seams.

A very stylish tailor suit had a plain round skirt, not reaching the ground by an inch. The sleeves were medium girths, with two buttons at the wrist. The basque was cut with a centerpiece forming the middle of the postilion. The side gores were cut separate from the rest of the postilion to insure a perfect fit. The front part had one dart each side and a centerpiece fitting the outline and narrowing to a point in front, extending below the waist in the little strap points, simulating a vest. The basque was formed by two pieces of the cloth cut to fit and neatly stitched. Across the front were 12 straps, six on each side, and three rows of buttons, the center row put an inch and a half below the others, both straps buttoned to the center line of buttons, which brought the straps to a becoming series of points. A stylish military cape of the same material was prepared to wear with this, the same idea in strap trim ming being carried out.

In rough chevrot boncle, in mixture of several dull colors, there was another model costume for a tailor suit. The skirt was laid in two flat folds each side of the front breadth. This was stitched down from the outside, and at the left hip it extended out in a sharp lap, with two enormous buttons. In the back the skirt was laid in two box plaits. The sleeves were drooping leg o' mutton shape. The basque was double breasted and closed invisibly save for two buttons at the shoulder like those at the skirt. It was pointed in front and had a postilion at the back, finished with a little soutache braid and two buttons like the others, but smaller. With this gown there was a short cape of rough plaid with high boucle curls on each plaid. Four large buttons and two pointed straps held it across the chest. I think it is safe to say that 10 out of 30 tailor suits will have postilion backs. Some are like these, very small and plain; others are 10 and 12 inches long and about 6 wide, with rows of small buttons and loops of soutache braid. They are neat and yet very dressy.

The Louis XVI costumes are certainly growing in favor and are as certainly pretty, but one hardly feels like taking them seriously. There is something too flimsy and frivolous about them, but folks are going to wear them.

A very handsome gown after this kind was made by a leading house this week. The skirt was of shes of roses satin rhadames, in the circular style. The bottom was scalloped and bound with velvet of the same shade—a very neat piece of work it was too. The vest was of silver gray silk mull, with a row of point lace down each side. There was a cunning little cutaway of rich satin brocade, gray ground, with superb crimson roses and foliage for pattern. On each side were three chased gold buttons, and for a collar there was a wreath of roses, shaded from pale pink to crimson. With this went a silver gray pressed plush flat hat. Around this was a wreath of large roses, and on the crown were three large black plumes.

The stock collar, with its wings, bows, loops and rosettes, is back again and to stay all winter, without doubt. Shoes are longer, narrower and more pointed than they were. Some are laced and some are buttoned. Slippers are too various to mention.

AN INDIAN BOY'S PONY.

An Account of His First Attempt to Ride It at a Buffalo Hunt.

Thus led by those dedicated to religious service, the tribe leaves its village, the people by families dropping into line—men, well mounted, bearing their weapons ready for use; women, in gala dress, riding their decorated ponies, older ones leading the pack horses; little children in twos and threes upon the backs of steady old nags, or snugly stowed away in the swinging pouch between the tent poles, and the dogs trotting complacently everywhere.

Here and there along the line of the cavalcade is a lad being initiated into individual responsibility. He has been upon the hunt before, as one of the family, but this is the first step toward going independently unaided for as a child. The father has loaned a wild horse, saddled and bridled him and now bids his son mount the animal. The boy hangs back, the colt is a fiery creature and already restive under restraint. The father tells his son that the horse shall be his own when he has conquered it, but the lad does not move. The lookers on are smiling, and the cavalcade does not wait. "Get up," says the father.

The boy slowly advances, and the colt quickly recedes, but the boy, grasping his mane, swings himself into the saddle. The father lets go, and so does the colt—rears, jumps, wriggles, humps his back like an infuriated cat, stands on his fore legs and kicks at his own tail, paws the air and stamps the earth, but the boy clings to him until, with a sudden jerk, the saddle girth is broken, and he is landed over the head of the excited creature, which runs for dear life and liberty. Brought back, protesting by twists and shakes of his head, he is again mounted and again freed himself.

After two or three repetitions of this sort of thing the boy becomes angry, and the mother grows anxious. She runs to her son as he is scrambling up from the ground, feels him all over and moves his legs and arms to see if he is hurt. He is impatient at the delay. He is going to master that pony now or die for it. This time he stays on. In vain the animal lashes himself into foam and fury. The boy sticks to him like the shirt of Nessus, and the father at last leads the indivisible pair between the tent poles which trail behind a sophisticated family horse, and there, fenced in, they journey all day, trying to get used to each other. The pony does not see his way out of the poles and is forced to keep up with the procession. —Century.

MERCURIAL
POISON

Is the result of the usual treatment of blood disorders. The system is filled with Mercury and Potash remedies—more to be dreaded than the disease—and in a short while is in a far worse condition than before. The most common result is for which S. S. S. is the most reliable cure. A few bottles will afford relief where all else has failed.

I suffered from a severe attack of Mercurial Rheumatism, my arms and legs being swollen to more than twice their natural size, causing the most excruciating pain. I spent hundreds of dollars without relief, but after taking a few bottles of S. S. S. I am now a well man, completely cured. I can heartily recommend your wonderful medicine to anyone afflicted with this painful disease.

Memorial Service.

The service at the Congregational Church Sunday was in many respects as had been previously heralded by the press. Portraits of the five persons who were memorialized by the occasion were placed in view of the audience, that of Rev. Jesse Page resting in the center and front of the pulpit, while to the right of this were those of Deacon George L. and Mrs. Harriet Kneeland Davis, and on the left those of Rev. George Pierce and Miss Lavinia Farnham. A cluster of elegant roses rested in front of each likeness, except that of the Rev. George Pierce. Fragrant yellow roses before that of Miss Lavinia Farnham, pink roses for Rev. Mr. Page, bride roses for Mrs. Harriet Davis, and pink roses for Deacon George L. Davis.

Among representatives of the families who were immediately interested in the memorialization, and who were present, were: Miss Alice Pierce of Cambridge; J. H. D. Smith, Misses Harriet and Lilla Smith, G. G. Davis and family, of town; Mrs. A. Albert Sack and Master George Lucien Davis Sack, Providence; Miss Mary A. Page and Miss Abigail L. Page, Atkinson, N. H. The sermon was preached by Rev. Henry Elbert Barnes, D. D., and the music was given by the chorals choir, Miss Elizabeth M. Saunderson soloist, under the direction of Frank D. Foster, organist and director.

On the mural tablets intaglio letters tell the story of departed lives more tersely and fittingly to many of those who knew the worthy persons, and even to the coming generations, than any discourse, song, or story. The pith and kernel of thought set into the marble of the Farnham and Davis tablets, which so beautifully and concisely records life's story is that of the gifted J. James Rankin, D. D., L. L. D., President of Howard University, Washington, D. C., a close friend of Miss Farnham's for 40 years.

The attendance in the evening was very meagre, and the continued memorial service was withheld. Next Sabbath it is intended that so much of the service as has already been given shall be repeated, and such as has not already been given shall then appear.

The Farnham memorial tablet was the gift of the nephew, George H. Gilbert, Esq., of Winchester, the Davis tablet of George G. Davis, the Pierce memorial by Joseph H. Stone, and the Page tablet by the Misses Page. The entire cost of beautifying the interior of the edifice was borne by three public-spirited gentlemen, Geo. H. Gilbert, Joseph H. Stone and George G. Davis.

The floral tributes to the memory of the persons in whose honor services were held at the Congregational church Sunday were the thoughtful and generous gifts of Mrs. George G. Davis.

Rev. J. E. Rankin when a student in Andover Theological Seminary was Superintendent of the Congregational Sunday School during the years 1851-1852.

Miss Abigail Page who was present at the service was probably the only person present who attended the ordination of her brother Rev. Jesse Page which occurred Sept. 9, 1835, 60 years, 1 month, 4 days ago last Sabbath.

Mr. George H. Gilbert sent a very graceful and kindly letter which will be read at the service Sunday.

Drowning Accident.

Louis Marcoux, aged 4 years, in company with James Campbell and a German lad, was playing in the rear of the Campbell lot on Beverly Street Monday forenoon, when in some manner, just how is not publicly explained, Marcoux either fell, jumped, or was pushed into the Shawheen River, which at present being very high courses swiftly past the end of the garden. The accident occurred about 11.40 o'clock, and after the alarm was given, Joseph Emmett and Edward P. Hinman were the first men to reach the place. The companions of the missing boy are said to have stated first that Marcoux fell into the stream and later that he jumped. They indicated the place where the little fellow entered the water and from a statement which they were credited to have made, it appears that Marcoux came to the surface two or three times, calling, "Jamie, help me!" The last time the little fellow appeared he had drifted about fifteen feet further down the stream, and then disappeared from view.

The Lawrence police and others have since been dragging the river bed intermittently, but without successful result. The parents, Mr. and Cyril Marcoux, are nearly distracted with grief at the loss of their little one, and the home at the corner of Beverly and Suffolk Streets is a sad one.

Patriotic Exercises at the Farnham School.

A flag was raised at the Farnham schoolhouse last Friday afternoon, a good representation of the district being present. The ceremony included an interesting program as follows: Prayer, by Rev. Charles Noyes; salute to the flag, by the school; flag drill, by 13 pupils representing the 13 original states; address of presentation, by Daniel A. Carleton; address of acceptance, by Ernest Farnham, captain of the school; original poem, by Miss Emily F. Carleton; singing by the school, "Cheer, Cheer We the Flag ever True!" address, by Rev. Charles Noyes; address, by Rev. F. E. Shipman; singing, "America;" raising the flag. The G. A. R. was represented by Warren Berry, formerly resident of the district and pupil of the school.

Feasting, Music and Story.

The Ladies' Social League of the First Methodist Church served a most tempting harvest spread in the church vestry Wednesday evening. After substantial refreshment the thoughts of all were most pleasantly diverted by a supplementary feast of another character which included: Piano duets, Mr. Shackleton, Miss Hattie Keeler; recitations, Miss Olive Lord; quartette song, Mrs. Edmunds, Miss Keeler, Miss Small and Mrs. Hathorn; solo, Mrs. Hathorn. A vote of thanks was extended to Miss Lord and all others who in any way contributed to the successful result of the evening's entertainment.

Come.

Sunday at the Methodist Church will be devoted to a Harvest Rally. A special sermon will be prepared by Rev. M. B. Pratt for the morning service at 10.30 o'clock and a fine concert has been arranged for the evening by Supt. Markey, commencing at 6.45 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all parents, children and friends interested in the parish and its work to attend on this occasion.

Police Court.

David Greene, who was trying to make an emphatic entrance into his home on Main Street about one o'clock Sunday morning, was taken to the Police station by Chief Robinson, and in Court Monday afternoon was charged with drunkenness and to the charge plead guilty. The case was placed on file. A short time since, however, he was convicted of non-support of his family, and on this case, which was continued, he was sentenced to pay a fine of $10, or serve in one of the houses of correction for a term of three months. He paid.

John L. Murphy appeared against his neighbor, Mrs. Smith, and alleged criminal trespass. It was claimed by the plaintiff that his neighbor's hens roamed about his premises with too much freedom, even after notice had been served upon her to keep them away, to the damage of his garden and annoyance of himself. Mrs. Smith plead not guilty to the allegation and was unrepresented by counsel, and had no witnesses. She denied the ownership of the hens, and asked the plaintiff and witnesses what means they had of identifying the birds as belonging to her. She admitted that the hens were kept on her property, and that in the absence of her son she cared for them. The witnesses for the plaintiff were William Keenan, Charles Robinson, John Cionan. The Court found the plaintiff guilty and she was ordered to pay a fine of $5, which she did.

While staying in the Delta (Mississippi Bottoms) last summer, E. T. Moss, representing Ludlow, Taylor Wire Co., of St. Louis, suffered from malaria and became subject to attacks of cholera morbus.
